Subject: Proposed Utility Rate Increases

I just don't understand your thought process.

First you buy the system and spend lots of money on lawyers and such because the present owner does not want to sell it to you.
You pledge that it is a good deal and rates should not go up.
Then you want us to take out our own insurance on the pipes because you aren't capable of maintaining the system you bought.
Now you want to phase in a 13 to 27 % price increase over the next 3 years in order to maintain and continue operation.
And charge us $45 per hour when we need your help.

I would suggest you take some of the money out of the "feel good" projects you seem to love to fund and divert it to this utility and avoid increases to an already strapped taxpaying base.

This is disgusting.
