The attitude and behavior from the developers of the old Missoulian building is reprehensible. https://www.instagram.com/aaronwags/?hl=en The values these individuals espouse does not line up with Montana values. They clearly do not have the interests of the community in mind. At a time when Missoula housing prices are driving people out, allowing this kind of behavior and development is an enormous mistake. Time marches on and missoula will expand, change, and be developed. But it's our responsibility to guide it in a direction that makes it a nice place to live and visit. Not a fantasy land for memebro developers and their pseudo-wealthy friends.
