A great effort that Missoula could emulate.

City of Helena unveils new public engagement tool

"Be Heard Helena is a platform for us to collect information and share, not only the kinds of work we've been doing on the strategic plan, but also asking key questions like, what do you think of seeing safe community ideas as a priority for the community," says Rachel Harlow-Schalk, Helena's City Manager. "These are some of the activities that the commission is looking at, are these the right ones? What are the ones you think need to be asked?"
