Silver Park.

Silver Park selection committee met three times (Sept 14, 16, and 20), 2 hours per meeting, to review Tribute and % for Art submissions. Excellent turn out: nearly complete selection committee each time. The committee gave each submission time and consideration.

Chair clarifies PAC mandate which is to not simply select from the list of entries, but to find an appropriate work.

% For Art

The % For Art submissions were distilled down to four pieces, from 28.

% For Art Call finalists: Golins & Morrissey, Paoli, Laurie Lane, George Ybarra.

Compile interview questions; email to PAC for review and additions.

The Kaleidoscopes: Mechanics, aesthetics, longevity, kaleidoscope effects, base, safety, wow factor.

Laure Lane: engineering; timeliness and follow through; how will it look in the daytime; refined budget; subcontracting; involvement of out-of-state daughter; texture on lower portion; lighting strength and resistance to elements.

George Ybarra: location; surface; scale with other buildings.

Models and interviews Dec. 2—4.

Tribute:

Tribute submissions distilled down to six, from 35. Final discussion came down to: "Do any of the submissions meet the criteria?" Consensus of selection committee is "no." For many of the submissions, the thematic call did not play out; others attempted to address the themes, but the presentations were underdeveloped or content did not work with formal qualities.

Process is now closed for Tribute piece.

Revisit and fine tune Tribute concept. Perhaps follow up directly with a handful of artists.

New call possibly after the New Year.

Pineview Park

Next working group meeting: Thursday November 6, 9:30am at Break Espresso.

Extend call statewide.

Linda contacted Kim Hurtle at MAC who has suggestions for simplifying art call.

Comments:

Research CAFÉ website (Call for Entry.ORG) for future art calls.

Bike racks at Splash are broken again. Justin Anthony will re-weld and touch up. Doug will photograph damage and send to Parks. Lawn mower may be hitting the racks, leading to damage.
